Story (Brief)

Maya, an Electrical Engineer at the Saharian Solar Grid project is having serious pains on the back of her right shoulder. She goes to the doctor but she can't find what's wrong with her.

The next night, she dreams of a human named Jenova who tells her than all humans on Earth are clones of the First Humans. We were put here to conquer the planet in harmony with other creatures and become part of the Olon, which is the interplanetary alliance ruling the known Universe.

We have failed though, so they're coming to fix things. As a warning, monsters have started appearing on Earth causing havoc. Maya has to acquire abilities and pick chosen ones to turn the tides of things or the First Humans will have to make drastical changes to all life on Earth.

Maya decides to leave her job and go on a quest to find these abilities. The closest ancient structure she can think of are the Egyptian Pyramids. She decides to enter the biggest one and after making her way to the top she finds the ability to read ancient texts.

She then visits the Parthenon in Greece. She has to make her way through the city and on top of the Acropolis hill she finds the ability to convince humans to do her will with the proper arguments.

Italy and Florence is next where she will find the ability to turn all beings kind.

She then heads to Taj Mahal in India where she finds the ability to communicate with the First Humans. She can also read people's thoughts and influence their decisions on a subconscious level.

Her next stop is China and Yin in which she finds the ability to manipulate matter and revitalize things.

Throughout this whole journey Maya has picked a single chosen one in each city and passed on her abilities so they can change the situation and make people live in harmony with nature and all other beings on Earth.

Unfortunately at this pace she won't be able to change the whole world so she decides to have the chosen ones use all the wireless technology they can to influence people's minds to be kinder until the First Humans arrive and take care of what is left to be done.

She personally decides to make her way to the ISS and from there send the necessary frequencies to Earth so as many people as can be done will be turned kind.

In order to do that she has to visit the Inkan ruins in South America and gain the power of Ascension to be able to fly to the ISS. In order to fly to space though she has to make a very serious decision. She has to manipulate her DNA to be able to survive in space. The First Humans grant her her wish and tell her how to implement the necessary changes.

Maya, makes her way to the ISS and has three choices. Make everyone act kindly via frequencies until the First Humans arrive, put everyone to a stasis until the First Humans arrive, and the last choice is to manipulate people's DNA to make them permanently kinder via frequencies. This is where the game ends.
